

CLIENT: Arlington County Commuter Services
PROJECT: Arlington County Courthouse

Overview

Redmon Group's Transit Display brings a full suite of travel options to the lobby of Arlington County's bustling Courthouse building in one easy-to-read display, located in the heart of the transit-rich Rosslyn-Ballston corridor. Alongside the up-to-the-minute travel information, Arlington County Commuter Services delivers announcements and County marketing videos using Redmon's cloud-based content management system

Approach

In Arlington's General District Court House building, in the heart of the Rosslyn-Ballston corridor, the county had a dated signage system that lacked the features commuters needed to ease their travel woes. Redmon installed their Transit Displays to provide real-time mass transit information to give building employees and visitors the information they need to get on their way.
